President's Message by Greg Crowder

I awoke at 4:45 this morning with a heavy heart. The duties and responsibilities of a leader can way heavy on a person. I have this thing with the budget hanging over my head since we owe more money than there actually is, in the world. Health care reform, people think that they should actually be able to see a doctor. Afghanistan makes me think of an old song from a band called The Clash (Should I stay or should I go). Mexico, drug lords running rampant and it seems that their government can't stop them. Maybe I could just call them terrorist and attack them too. No, I can't do that. We don't attack neighboring countries. Hmm, I'll get back to that one. I had to pardon 2 turkeys, that's alright I'm having their brother over for dinner today. Now these crazy North Koreans have started firing at South Korea as a show of power. It seems that if you really wanted to show power that most of your shots would hit the target instead of the ocean. Ahh, that's it. They were aiming at the ocean to just scare them but missed it and hit land. I'll send a really big ship over, that'll show them who's boss. Tom Delay is making us all look bad. People are going to think that politicians are crooked.

Wait a minute that junk is for the other most powerful person in the world. I have to make sure that my people and matters are taken care of. Christmas party hall booked, check. Caterer booked, check. Ornament turned for party, check. Finances in good shape, check. Money for next year's dues, check. Literally, I don't have any cash on me. All garden hoses removed from spigots, check. Freezing temps at night while I'm gone. Chicken feeder filled and all the waters filled, check. Heading to Georgia for a great Thanksgiving weekend with my family, check. All duties fulfilled.

Most importantly, you have a new President for next year. Evanna Brening will be the new leader of The North Carolina Woodturners. As far as I know this is also another milestone for us. She will be the first female President.

Please ignore the first half of the message. At 4:45 the medicine hasn't kicked in yet plus I wanted to have a little fun with my last message.
